

News Release

City of Greenville, South Carolina

Date: April 18, 2003

For Immediate Release

Contact: Charles R. Oliver,
City Manager
(864) 467-5700

Subject: City offers free weekend parking at
Richardson Street Garage

In a move designed to introduce downtown visitors and shoppers to the convenience of garage parking, the City of Greenville is now offering free weekend parking at the Richardson Street Parking Garage, located in the center of Greenville's downtown. The Richardson Street Garage is adjacent to the new Mast General Store.

The special promotion began last week. Free parking is offered from 6:00 p.m. on Friday nights until 7:00 a.m. on Mondays. However, free weekend parking will not be provided on weekends when large special events are scheduled, such as Fall For Greenville.

"Greenville has an abundance of high-quality, safe public parking, particularly at nights and on weekends," said Charles Oliver, City Manager. "Some people are unfamiliar with parking in garages. The free weekend parking in the Richardson Street Garage will help encourage more people to try our parking garages, while enjoying our beautiful downtown."

-end-

